COUNTERFEITERS.

DETECTIVE THINKS HE HAS RUN THEM DOWN.

ad He Believes They Have a Den in the County Where They Make Their Bogus Money—$50 and $100 Bills.

During the past six months officers and detectives of this city have been looking for a nest of counterfeiters who are supposed to be working their diabolical game in some secreted spot in this city or county. They first "caught on" to the fact that the able counterfeiter was at work, with bogus $50 and $100 greenbacks were passed on two or three business men.

The whole matter has been kept as quiet as possible, for the reason that several officers were of the opinion that they had located the gang right here in the city.
But their "pointer" failed them, and as nearly as can be learned they are as far from the place now as they were when the alarm was first given.

Well-known northern detective came down here some two weeks ago, and during his stay he has done some work on the case.
A Times reporter cornered him yesterday, when the following conversation took place:

In going away tomorrow or I should not like to you on the subject at all," remarks the detective, "for my professional pride takes me to think that I could unearth the rebels if I had time enough to work it up, but I have business of more importance up north, and I must give up. It is true that I have not gained much information, but I think I have seen the chief of the gang more than once since I learned of the bogus $50 and $100 bills.
The man was in the city only a few days ago, and just after he disappeared three of these bills turned up. I have seen them, and they are the most perfect imitation I have ever seen. I have seen the man in this city. He travels about from place to place behind a spanking pair of horses, and dresses in the latest style. You would take him for a New York stock broker, and when he is in Los Angeles he stops at one of the best hotels, and throws more lugs to use a flash expression, than anybody. I have seen him swelling around with some of your most prominent citizens, and I am of the opinion that he has a partner here in the person of a man who tries to fly very high. Where is his den? Ah, that is the question. I pointed him out to an ambitious young officer, and as I have not seen either the suspect or the officer since, I am of the opinion that they are not far apart at this very moment. I don't know why, but I am of the opinion that the counterfeiter's den is located in this county, and I believe I could find it if I only had the time to hunt the rascal down.
I believe the head man of the gang is working for a big thing in this city, and I think he and the would-be influential man I spoke of a few minutes ago are managing the thing together. If they are, your city may have a sensation worth talking about in a short time. Why do I think the citizen is willing to be caught? Well, he it what you like, but I believe instinct first made me suspicious, and I watched the citizen and soon learned that he had passed several of the bills on banks that dare not suspect him. When he was informed the other day that the bill he presented was bogus, I was near by where I could closely watch his face, and if I am any kind of a judge of human nature, he went into that bank with malice forethought, as the lawyers say, and deliberately offered the cashier that bogus bill.
Now, if he and the counterfeiter are working together, they will stick somebody for a big sum, and you will never see either of them again, unless the officers land them in jail. This is an old scheme in the East, and has been worked on bankers who are as sharp as any of your Los Angeles bankers. If they are not headed off by the young man I spoke to you about, you may see me down here again soon, and I will become thoroughly interested in the case for the reason that I think the citizen partner is more dangerous than the counterfeiter."

OUR NEIGHBORS.

FULLERTON.
Fullerton, Jan. 3.—[Correspondence of THE TIMES.] The holidays were very gay in this thriving little burg.

On Christmas eve we had the Christmas tree in the Town Hall. About two hundred, including the children, were present, and the committee arranged that every child should have a present.

Santa Claus (H. A. Ford) came down the chimney, ushered in with a great clatter of deer hoofs, and wore a long beard, and a great ulster covered with snowflakes, and after a few witty remarks, proceeded with the distribution of candy, nuts and toys to his good little boys and girls. After the tree had been stripped, a dance was begun, which held the dancers until the "wee sma' hours" of morning.

The hall was lighted for the first time by gas, and with its beautiful Christmas decorations presented a very brilliant appearance.

One of the most attractive presents was a gigantic bunch of oranges from a single stem from Mr. Schulte's grove on Orangeflower avenue. Mr. Schulte will realize a net profit of over $500 per acre from his oranges this year.
St. George's Hotel is now doing very well and Col. Walker's tables is much praised by his numerous guests. At present there are about thirty permanent boarders among them being Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Cone, Axtell, Mo.; Mr. and Mrs. H. K. Cone, Axtell, Mo.; T. E. Gibbon, Little Rock, Ark.; Dr.

P. H. Clemons and family, Little Rock, Ark.; Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Carpenter, Cincinnati, O.; Miss Della Clemons, Cincinnati, O.; W. B. Williams and family, San Francisco, and H. G. Wilschire of Los Angeles, who is now living in Fullerton, looking after the company's affairs.

Baron and Baroness Rogniat, after spending a week, have left, but have reengaged their rooms and will return next week. They are delighted with the drives about Fullerton, and will send their horses down next time they come, although they were well satisfied with the spanking teams that Mr.
Kramer's livery stable affords.

Frank Jaynes, manager of the Western Union Telegraph Company, and family will be here tomorrow for a week.

G. S. Knight, "the silver-tongued," and elector number one for Harrison, is largely interested in Fullerton, and is having plans drawn for a number of neat little cottages, for which there is considerable demand.

Charles Schumate, from Moline, Ill., has opened a farming implement store and general wagon repair and blacksmith shop.

T. F. Grimshaw is about completing the First Presbyterian Church. It is a very showy and roomy building, and our pastor, the eloquent Dr. Elliot, D.D., anticipates considerable gains to his growing congregation.

The $3000 schoolhouse will be begun next week, as the money is now in hand from the sale of the bonds, and the plans accepted.

Fullerton is still shipping an immense amount of farm products via the Santa Fe. Mr. Gilman is shipping 17 tons of English walnuts, all from his own place, and the amount of eggs, chickens, and turkeys that leave here to feed Los Angeles people would cause the croakers' eyes to open who say Southern California don't raise those articles.

There are also many acres now being put in oranges, walnuts and prunes.

H. G. Wilschire is planting 140 acres in walnuts and 40 acres in eucalyptus.
The ostrich farm has now 138 birds, and is in a most flourishing condition.
The new saw and planing mill will soon commence operations, the engine and boiler being now on the way.

Upon a trial you will never want any other but Crown Flour.

Your home-made bread, cakes, pies, etc.
New Domestic Bakery, 312 South Main street.

S. Joseph Lead and Eastern Oil.
At P. H. Mathews', corner Second and Los Angeles streets.

The best is the cheapest, therefore use Crown Flour.

Furniture and Carpets.
We have one of the largest and finest stocks house-furnishing goods, to call and inspect our stock. Prices low. Miles Place, 243, 245

By Telegraph to The Times.

CHICAGO, Jan. 3.—[By the Associated Press.] Charges were made tonight which, if true, the Times will say, places the police officials who were most prominent in the Anarchist prosecution in an unfavorable light. The chief accuser is the wife of Detective Loewenstein, the officer who captured Lingg, and who was Capt. Schaack's right-and man in securing the evidence which Lingg's comrades to the gallows. She alleges that large quantities of property irregularly obtained from the prisoners and thieves were brought to her home by her husband with Capt. Schaack's knowledge, and the proceeds were divided with him.

Mrs. Loewenstein's allegation are corroborated to a considerable extent by Mrs. Holt, president of the Woman's Protective association, and Lawyer Ken, Mrs. Lowenstein's attorney. Part of the plunder is now locked up in the vault of the lawyer, and includes watches, silks and other valuables, besides Lingg's kepsakes. The accused is under indictment for the attempted killing of her husband, but she claims to have been fired upon by him first.

her quarrel resulting from her endeavors to get loose from the "fence," and make him so. Her motive in revealing the alleged circumstances now, she says, is because her husband, Capt. Shaack and others are endeavoring to destroy her reputation as a wife in order to discredit her in case the story of the "fence" is brought up during the trial.

Kilrain Ready to Fight Any Man of His Class.

CHICAGO, Jan. 3.—[By the Associated Press.] "Parson" Davies said this evening that he had been misconstrued regarding the

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 3.—A ten-round fight between Frank Murphy of England, who claims the feather-weight championship of the world, and Jimmy Hagan of this city, came off at Stockton range tonight. As the men squared it was apparent that Murphy was the heavier and that he was "fit," while Hagan looked a trifle drawn. For the first five rounds Hagan had the best of the fight, but the fast pace began to sl on him, after which Murphy had the rest of the contest. In the tenth round Flanagan began to do some telling work, when time was called and the referee awarded the fight to Murphy. The spectators were divided in opinion as to who won the fight, neither of the contestants was severely punished.

Boston, Jan. 3.—Joe Lannon, a South Boston heavyweight, and George Godfrey, colored pugilist, signed articles this morning for a glove-fight for $1000 a side, to take place February 4th. Sullivan will be referee.
